It is a reverent thing to see an ancient castle not in decay; How much more to behold the families that have stood against the waves and weather of time.

.....Lord Francis Bacon

OUR OLD FAMILY TREE

*Within this book you will find, there's no doubt,
The names of some people you have wondered about;
You knew them so well when you were quite small,
But since then you have not heard of them at all.*

*So we started out, to see what we could do.
In bringing some knowledge about them to you;
And in doing so, we discovered that we,
Were just climbing up "Our Old Family Tree".*

*Now that tree it is old and that tree it is big,
It has many a branch, it has many a twig;
And to get to the roots, we left nothing to chance,
For in it are records from Germany and France.*

*But as time marched on, your relatives marched too,
You forgot about them, they forgot about you;
But blood's thicker than water and while it runs slow,
It binds you together wherever you go.*

*So we wrote many a letter and traveled many a mile,
And what we found out, in this book did compile;
So, if you read through it, no doubt you will see,
That you are a branch of "Our Old Family Tree".*

JOHN GERRADT LUCKENBACH

Tuttle $ 7.50 6-15-67 9461-B 10 5797

The First Generation
JOHN GERRADT LUCKENBACH

John Gerradt Luckenbach, the emigrant ancestor of the family, was a native of Winckelbach, near Hachenburg, Nassau, Germany. He arrived with his family at Philadelphia on the ship, Samuel and Elizabeth, from Rotterdam, on September 30, 1740. Appearing under his name on the ship's list of male passengers were those of his two sons --Johan Adam, 27; Johan Heinrich, 18. His age was given as 50.

His decision to leave Germany was undoubtedly timed with the accession of Frederick the Great to the throne, who immediately began great preparations for wars of attrition, including the invasion of Silesia. The first twenty-four years of his life had already been spent on a constant battleground (the boundary war between Germany and France, 1688-1697, concluded by the Peace of Westphalia; and the War of the Spanish Succession, 1703-1714, concluded by the Peace of Baden.

Probably foreseeing nothing better for the future and having two sons of military age, he moved his family to Pennsylvania where there was peace, religious tolerance and plenty.

He settled in the western part of Lancaster County, now York County, in the townships of Dover and Paradise. His first land record appearing in the county records is the transfer of 190 acres in Dover and Paradise Townships "To Henry Lookinbaugh, son of the aforesaid John Gerradt" His will was probated in 1758, in which he left his estate to his wife and second son, John Henry. His reason for cutting off his older son, John Adam, the school master, is obscure. Perhaps it was because John Adam married a girl of the Moravian faith, moved to Berks County, and was buried in the old Moravian Cemetery at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, in 1785.

It is interesting to note that the first evidence of the corruption of the spelling of the name, LUCKENBACH, begins with his land records.

The Second Generation
JOHN HEINRICH LUCKENBACH

John Heinrich Luckenbach lived his entire adult life in York County, Pennsylvania, where he paid taxes on lands held in Hellam, Dover, Paradise and Heidelberg Townships.

He and his wife, Anna Elizabeth, had five children --Johan Heinrich, Johan Adam, Maria Barbara Johan Peter and Elizabeth. Some time before his death, he transferred the bulk of his estate to his son, Johan Heinrich, with the stipulation that he should keep his parents "in the manner in which they had been accustomed". His will was probated in York County in 1810, He died in 1810, Heidelberg Township.

The Third Generation
JOHN ADAM LUCKENBACH

Johan Adam Luckenbach was born April 5, 1761, at Kreutz Creek Charge, Hellam Township, York County, Pennsylvania.

The birth of two sons are recorded to him and his wife, Anna Maria, in Germany Township, York County, --Henry and Peter, born August 7, 1790. The family use of "Johan Heinrich" and "Johan Peter" was not observed in this entry.

In 1781, he enlisted in Germany Township as a private under Captain Abraham Furrey of Colonel Adam Wintrolt's battalion. A certificate of debt #12,762 for £10.10 was issued to him. The cancelled certificate is now in the Division of Public Records, Pennsylvania State Library.

Some time before 1800 he moved his family to the Emmitsburg District, Frederick County, Maryland, and his name appears in the 1800 census of that place:

ADAM LOOKABAUGH

1 m., 45 or over

2 m., 10 to 16

1 m., under 10

1 fe., 45 or over

2 fe., 10 to 16

1 fe., under 10

Adam's age bracket, however, was incorrect, as he was only 39. The two males, 10 to 16, coincide with the ages of Henry and Peter, whose births are recorded in York County.

He purchased his land through two transaction in a tract formerly surveyed as "Carolina" in 1763--"East side of Friend's Creek, in the lock of the mountain." The mountain referred to is South Mountain. The dates of the two purchases were December 16, 1800 and February 16, 1801. Between December 1806 and January 1808, he sold his holdings in "Carolina" for £572.

Anna Maria, his wife, was entered as "Mary, his wife". The surname, Luckenbach, was spelled variously as Lukinbaugh, Lukebaugh, Lykenbach, Lookenbaugh, Lookebaugh, and Lookabaugh.

The Fourth Generation PETER LOOKABAUGH

Peter Lookabaugh was one of the earliest pioneers in Allegheny Township, Armstrong County, Pennsylvania. He arrived in 1829 from Emmitsburg District, Frederick County, Maryland. He built his log cabin in a rugged wilderness.

“..a tract of land containing one hundred acres more or less at one dollar and fifty cents per acre in Allegheny Township, Armstrong County, State of Pennsylvania. Sd Peter Luckebaugh is to pay unto Mathew Donley fifty dollars in hand, one colt twenty five dollars and cattle to the amount of twenty five dollars more which makes the hand money and on the last day of March on or before 1830 Luckebaugh is to pay sd Donley twenty five dollars and the residue is to be paid in three equal annual payments...Attest, George Duphorn.

In 1833 he bought an adjoining piece of land, a part of the “Parnassas” tract, surveyed in 1784, which he purchased from Isaac Vanhorne “At one dollar and fifty cents an acre, estimated to contain one hundred and eleven acres, more or less.” Here he raised his family of eleven children and spent the remainder of his life.

Although Peter cleared some land for crops, his chief pursuit was hunting and trapping, which furnished ready cash and an ample supply of squirrel, venison and “partridge” meat for his large family. Many stories have sifted down through his descendants pointing to his skill as a woodsman. There is the story of his before-breakfast catch in the nearby Kiskiminitas River, a catfish trailing from the pole over his shoulder and dragging behind him on the path! The pot simmering on the hearth held the evening meal of squirrel, shot from his own doorstep.

Completely cut off from the outside world, his life as a pioneer in western Pennsylvania was in rugged contrast to the relative life of ease of the earliest settler along the eastern seaboard, who had occasional access to merchandise from abroad, such as glass, tools, medicines, and bolts of cotton and wollen goods. Whatever he or his family needed, his ingenuity, skill and hard work had to produce. He tanned deer skins for his leather, cultivated flax for his wife's spinning wheel, melted tallow for candle molds, and gathered and dried herbs and roots for fever and infections.

He was born August 7, 1790, Germany Township, York County, Pennsylvania, the son of Adam Luckenbach and Anna Maria, his wife, his birth having been recorded in the German-Lutheran Church Records of York County. At an early age he moved with his family to the Emmitsburg District, Frederick County, Maryland. He passed his boyhood on his father's land in the fields and on the slopes of South Mountain and Antietam.

He, with his brother, Henry, enlisted at nearby Gettysburg during the War of 1812 when Maryland was threatened with English invasion. They were both enrolled as privates, 2nd Brigade, 5th Division, 7th Company, 124th Regiment, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

On March 6, 1821, Peter "Luckeybaugh" obtained a license to marry Evaline Loy in Frederick County, Maryland. She was the presumed daughter of George Loy, whose lands adjoined those of Adam Luckenbach in the "Carolina" tract. The Loy family were presumed to have been Huguenots, who escaped to Germany from France.

In 1829, they and their young son, Adam, turned their faces to the northwest and started on the trek over the Allegheny Mountains in a covered wagon to a new home on frontier land in Pennsylvania. The last words of Peter's mother, as they said goodbye, have been passed down through succeeding generations--"You will forget your parents, but never forget your God."

They apparently did not travel alone, as the names of Maryland neighbors appear in the land records of Armstrong County, Pennsylvania--Henry Eiler and George Duphorne. George Duphorne witnessed Peter's land contract with Mathew Donley in 1829.

He was of great physical strength and stamina, living to be a very old man. His descendants tell of his playing his violin with the lion's head scroll, and clogging at the celebration of his last birthday, in 1898.

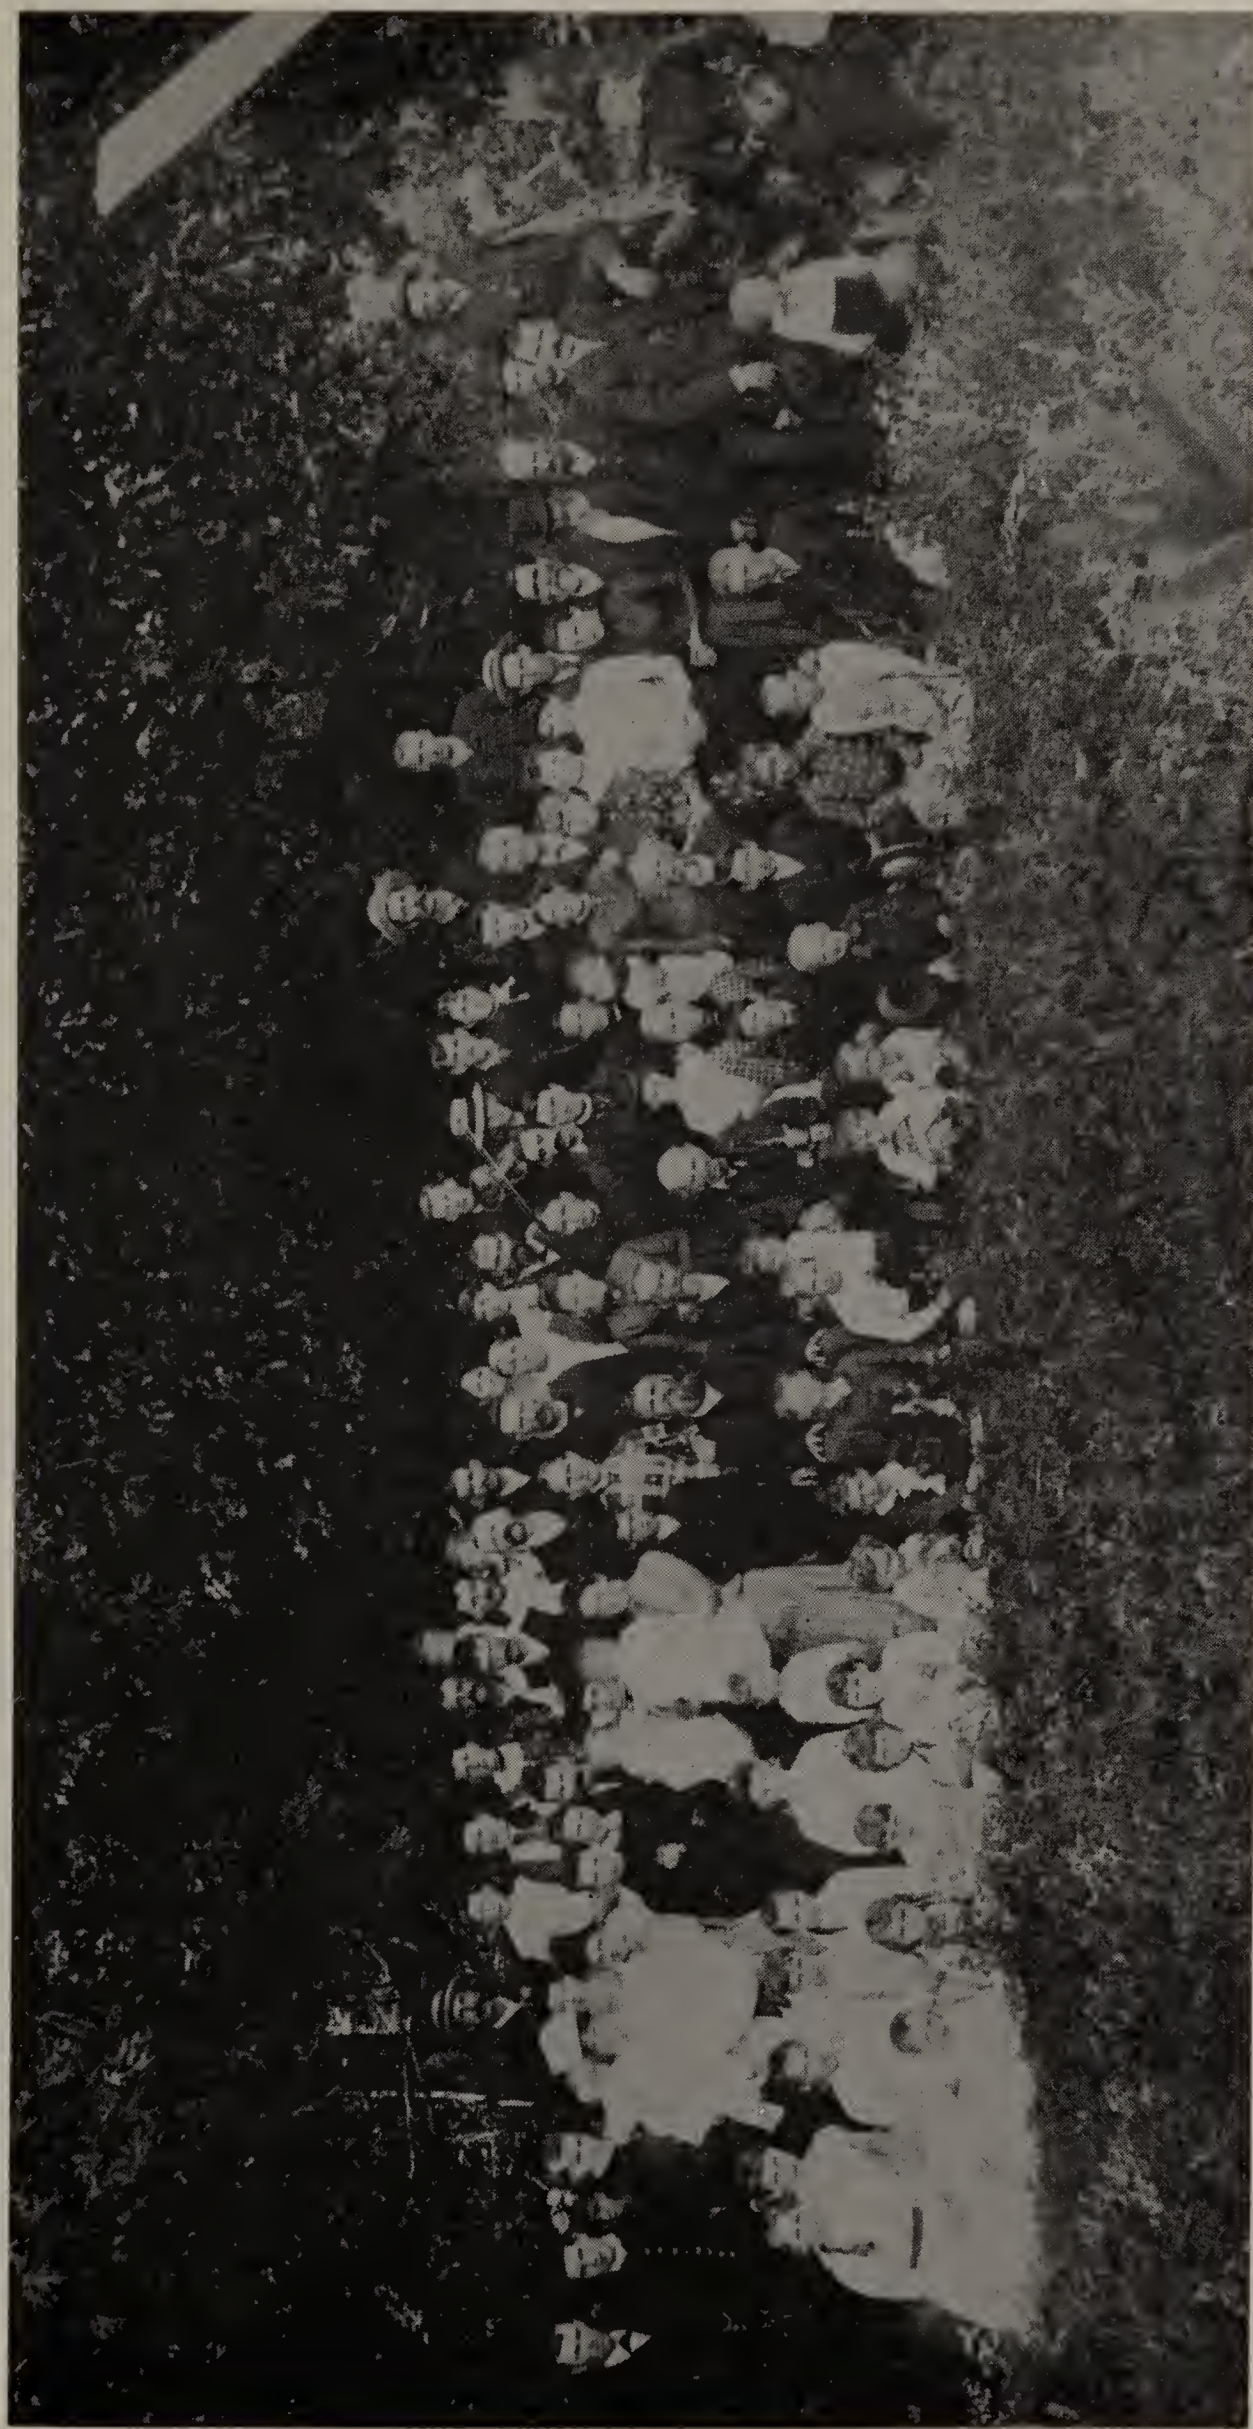

His will was probated in 1898, Armstrong County, Pennsylvania. He is buried in Highfields Cemetery, Armstrong County.

His name appears as "Peter Luckenbach" on an old map of early homesteads in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Later generations have consistently spelled the surname, "Lookabaugh".

As a girl of six years of age, Mary Ann came with her parents from Frederick County, Maryland. School facilities being nil her mother was her only teacher.

After their marriage the Ashbaughs went to housekeeping in Parks Twp., Armstrong Co., Pa., where Mr. Ashbaugh was employed at the Salt Works. Being past the age for enlistment in the Army, Alexander spent much of his time as leader of the Carnathan Run Guards, a voluntary organization of young men engaged in learning and practicing military maneuvers. When the age limit for volunteers was lifted, he enlisted but the war closed before they got into active service.

Returning home, the Ashbaughs moved to Leechburg, Pa. where his training characteristics remained with him, for as leader of Uncle Alex Fife & Drum Corps he was always at the head of all parades or political processions.

WAR RECORD.....ALEXANDER ASHBAUGH

Recruited August 10, 1864 in Co. I, Penn. Vol. Artillery.
 Appointed Sargent, September 15th. Rendezvoused at Camp Reynolds near Pittsburgh, Pa. under Gen. Geo. S.

Gallespey. Moved to Washington, D.C. on September 18th, and was sent out to protect trains engaged in opening the Manassa Gap R.R., the supply line to Gen. Sherman in his Shannadoah campaign. Their duty was to keep the supply line open and to do so they seized a number of prominent citizens as hostages, placing them on the train which was moved back and forth, thus preventing the Confederates from blowing up the road. At New Salem they were face to face with Gen. Mosbeys heavy Artillery, but they withdrew after the Yanks had captured some of their heavy guns.

After the Battle of Bull Run they were sent to the battle-field to inter the dead and place markers on their graves. Then moved to Washington, D.C. to protect supplies. Returned to Pittsburgh and were mustered out September 1, 1864.

He loved to hunt and as game was plentiful he became an expert marksman.

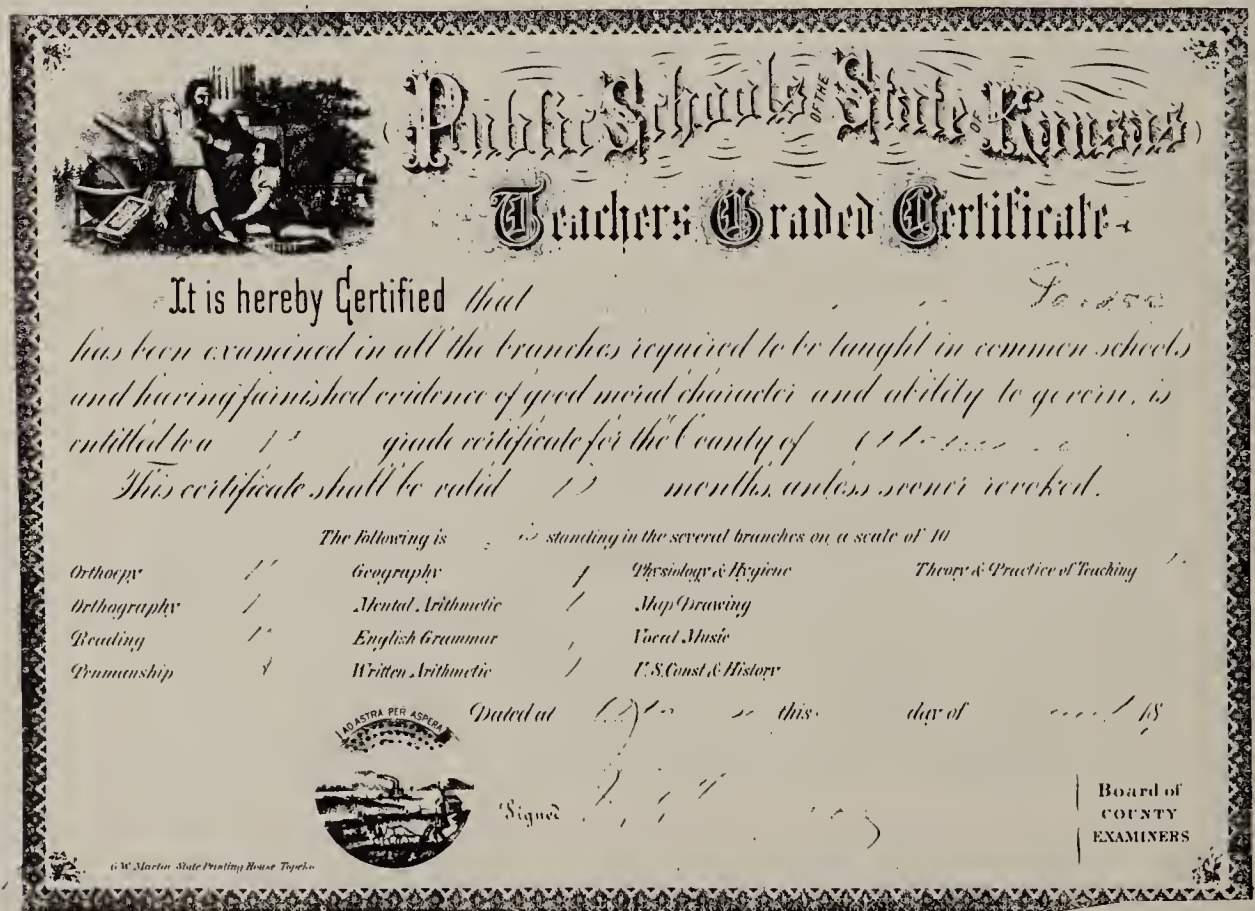

Graduated from and taught several terms at the Leechburg Academy.

In 1861 he married Susanna Kinnard, daughter of Isaac Kinnard of Cochran Mills, Armstrong Co., Pa.

A daughter, Mary Ada, was born in 1862, the mother passed away a week after the birth.

Leaving the child with the grandparents Elijah answered the call of his country and enlisted. (See War record). Returning from service he married Emily, a sister of the former wife. They lived at Cochran Mills, where he taught school at Brick Church and worked in his father-in-law's Woolen Mill. Here the children Ira Harmes, Ida Mae & Frank Howard were born. In 1871 with his family, he moved to Atchison Co., Kansas. Then the home of the wife's Uncle, Isaac Helfrick and of Rev. David Earhart, their former pastor and who had officiated at both marriages and at Susanna's funeral.

He purchased land and farmed and taught school in the winter.

Teachers Certificate, Public Schools of the State of Kansas issued to E.E. Lookabaugh March 1875

Here the children, Edwin Harmes and Harry Clive, were born, and here their mother passed away.

Marrying Elizabeth Carter, they sold the farm and purchased another near Pardee, Kansas where he continued to farm and teach school. The children, Eva Grace, Peter Ray and Hope were born.

In 1894, they sold and moved to Blair County, Oklahoma, taking up a claim in the newly opened North Canadian River basin.

They rented a small house from the Arapaho Indian Chief, who lived with his tribe in tee-pees surrounding their house.

Transporting the lumber some forty miles, they built a house on their land and began farming and raising cattle. The land was very fertile and he pioneered in raising many crops, especially in alfalfa, which proved to be a most productive crop in the valley.

He planted many trees around the buildings for a wind brake, many of them he had sent from Pennsylvania. He loved flowers and many evenings he spent in his flower garden, watering them with water from a hand dug well and pumped by power supplied by a wind mill.

In 1907, the wife suffering from asthma and to get away from the cold prairie winds they sold and moved to San Antonio, Texas, where with his son, Ray, they started a grocery and feed store. However the store business was not his line and they were soon back on the farm purchased near Palestine, but his farming days were about over as having had a tooth extracted, cancer developed in his mouth. For special treatment he was taken back to Oklahoma to his son, Clive, near Watonga, where he passed away.

War Record

Enlisted at Kittanning, Pennsylvania, August 9, 1862, as private in Company G of the 139th Reg. Pa. Vol. Inf. under Gen. Fred H. Collins. He moved to Pittsburgh and on to Washington, D.C.

They were ordered under a flag of truce to the battlefield of Bull Run where they consigned to their graves the men who had given up their all on that battlefield. They were assigned to the 3rd Division of the 12th Corp of the Army of the Potomac, and as such took part in the following battles: Fredericksburg, Salem Church, Gettysburg, Petersburg and others.

Elijah was wounded at Gettysburg and was furloughed at home for several weeks. He was at Gen. Lee's surrender at Appomattix Court House and in the Grand Review at Washington, D.C. He returned to Pittsburgh and was mustered out of service June 22, 1865. He was a member of John R. Hunter Post #123, G.A.R. In his discharge he was described as being six feet one inches tall, sandy complexion, gray eyes, and occupation when he enlisted was a teacher.

WAR RECORD.....Enlisted at Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 8, 1861 in Co. E of the 4th Pennsylvania Cavalry under Capt. David Campbell. Rendezvoused at Camp Custer but was soon transferred to Washington, Pa. where they were mustered into service. Much time was spent in regimental drill and horsemanship, but so great was the drawback in securing serviceable mounts that by March 1st only five companies were mounted. On March 10th with five other companies they were sent out on picket duty near Mechanicsburg.

Scouting beyond the lines they encountered the advance lines of the enemy, where the first shots were fired in that bloody Seven Days Battle. Transferred to the command of Gen. Mead, they were engaged in the Gettysburg campaign and the resulting battle of July 1st - 5th, 1863. Here Cline had his mount shot from under him. At Chancellerville, Chambersburg and the Battle of the Wilderness the cavalry had an important role, moving from point to point as needed to strengthen the battle line.

Was at Appomattox Court House at Gen. Lee's surrender then returned to Washington, D.C. to restore order and to protect government property. Mustered out of service at Lynchburg, Va., returned to Pittsburgh and disbanded, from where they had started four years before.

PART II
CONRAD HAWK

THE FAMILY OF HAWK

(Houck, Hauck, Hak, Haag, Hoke, Hok, Hack, Haug, Haugh, Hawk)

Typical of the migrations of the descendants of early German immigrants are those of families bearing the surname, HAWK, a surname anglicized from the original HOUCK. In the early part of the 18th Century, the name was found in civil records only in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. In the middle part of the 18th Century, it was found in York, Lancaster, Bucks, Berkshire and Montgomery Counties, Pennsylvania. In the latter part of the 18th Century, it was found in Westmoreland and Allegheny Counties, Pennsylvania. In the beginning of the 19th Century, the name was common in Armstrong County, Pennsylvania.

THE HAWKS OF ARMSTRONG COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

Generation 1 - John Jacob Houck

John Jacob Houck arrived in Philadelphia in 1729, although his ship sailed from Rotterdam, his origin is not known. It is presumed that he was from the Palatinate, Germany, and part of the emigration wave that spread from there to the colonies during that period.

He was the first minister of the Trinity Lutheran Church, New Holland Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. An intestate record for "JOHN HAAG", 1775, appears in an index of early wills of Lancaster County.

Generation 2 - Samuel (John Jacob)

He is the presumed son of generation 1, John Jacob Houck, as his name appears on the membership registry of the same church and at the same time as his presumed father. He is the father of Conrad, who was baptised there in 1745, and probably of a Jacob, George and John, who apparently accompanied Conrad on his migrations west. In the church records, Samuel's name is spelled "Hak". No Will or intestate record has been found. All land records of that early period have been removed to the State Library at Harrisburg and are in the processing stage.

Generation 3 - Conrad (Samuel, John Jacob)

Conrad Hawk was born 11/25/1745, New Holland, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, the son of Samuel "Hak". He married (1st) Sarah--, the mother of his children, who died before 1783; (2nd) Elizabeth--. His known children were George, Jacob, John Michael, Conrad, William, Elizabeth and Susannah. The last land record date recorded from his in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania was January 28, 1798.

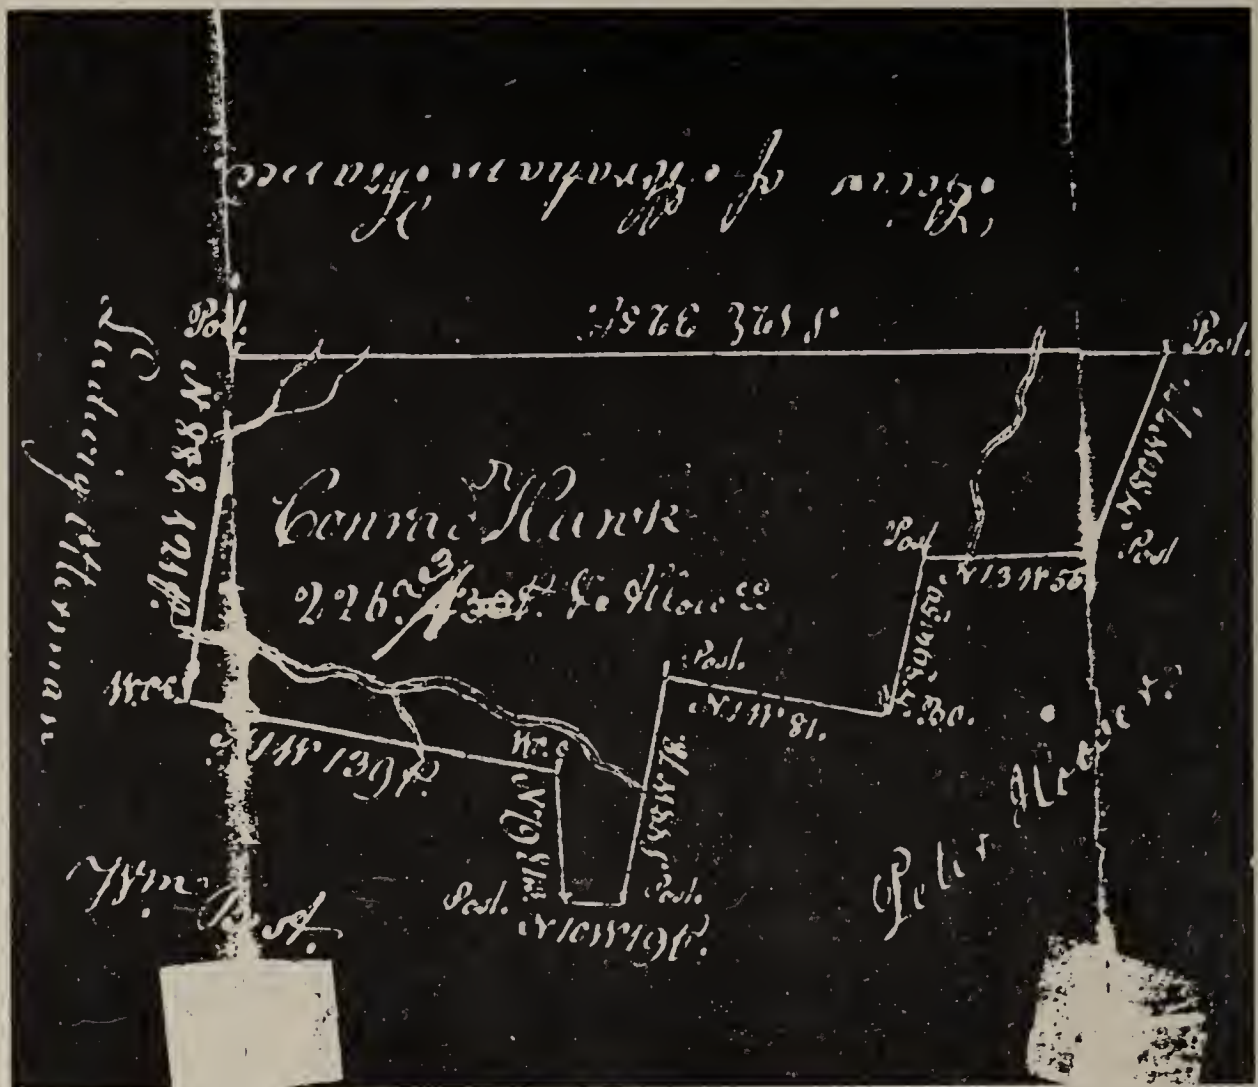

He was the first man to drive a covered wagon from "east of the mountains" over the old Nemocolin's Path (now the Pennsylvania Turnpike). He was established in Westmoreland County as early as 1772. He was apparently accompanied by three brothers, as a "Samuel Hawk", "Jacob Hawk" and "George Hawk" appear in Westmoreland records and Mt. Zion Church records between 1783 and 1785. They obtained patents of land in the same township and at same time as Conrad, and appear as Godparents of Conrad's children in the Mt. Zion Church records.

Conrad settled on 200 acres of land in the southern part of Hempfield Township, Westmoreland County, but did not receive the Patent to it until 1785, with taxes retroactive to March 1772. The land was called "Hawksworth" in the Survey.

Today, a residential subdivision, on the outskirts of Greensburg, is called "Hawksworth", probably because of the original Survey of this parcel. The area was originally called the Brush Creek Settlement, as it lay between Brush and Sewickley Creeks.

On January 11, 1791 he deeded 100 acres of "Hawksworth" to his son, George, for 63 pounds. On November 1, 1791, he deeded 100 acres of the original grant to his son, Jacob.

In commendation of his bravery in helping to defend Fort Allen against Indian attack, his name is inscribed on a bronze plaque, erected by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission at Harold's Church, Westmoreland County, Pa.

Surveyors sketch of the plot of land in the Southern part of Hempfield Twp., Westmoreland County, Penna. Patent issued to Conrad Hawk in 1785

1. Hempfield Township was organized in 1773. Its boundaries were much larger than now, reaching from Crabtree Run to the Conemaugh River, and including the territory lying along the "Kiski" River. Allegheny Township was organized from it in 1796.

2. This is now St. John's Reformed Church and is located three miles southeast of Greensburg, Pa.

Generation 4 - George (Conrad, Samuel, John Jacob)

He was born around 1765 and died in 1835. He married before 1790 - Elizabeth (possibly Walthour). In his Will, he names the following children: Elizabeth, Mary, Michael, George, Jacob, David, Daniel and Susannah.

In addition to having bought 100 acres from his father, Conrad, part of the original Survey, "Hawksworth", he purchased land from Joseph Cook and his wife, Susannah, known as the "Great Bend". This was probably his sister Susannah.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ss.

WHEREAS Conrad Hawk of the County of Children: Aaron, George, Keziah, Elenor, Ephram & David

Born on the farm in Alleghany Twp., Westmoreland Co., Pa. situated in the "Big Bend" of the Kiskiminitus River, now Hyde Park, David was a farmer. He had a meager education but was an ardent reader. The County Newspaper was second only to his Bible.

A Lutheran by faith and a staunch Republican, he was ever thankful that he had two sons that could answer the call in defense of their country. After marriage they purchased a farm in Parks Twp., Armstrong Co., Pa. that they might have a more permanent outlet to the public highway, they traded with a Samuel Crosby for one on the Leechburg and Cochran Mills Road.

Here they spent their remaining days, first with their son, Ephriam, and later with their son, Aaron.

Family Portrait of the Aaron Hawk family taken in Leechburg, Pa. in 1897. Children seated; Jennie and Walter, standing; Lilly, Charles, Katy and Ada.

Born and raised on their farm, Aaron attended rural school and helped to operate the farm. He learned the shoe making trade and later made many of his children's shoes and boots. He also worked at the Porter Cooperage, making barrels and kegs.

At the discovery of oil in Franklin County, he and H. V. Ashbaugh (later his brother-in-law) went to the oil fields at Franklin County, Pennsylvania and engaged in drilling for oil. The mode of drilling then was with a spring-pole and sharpening their drills with a sledge after heating them in a forge operated by hand.

In answer to his country's call for volunteers, he enlisted, serving until the close of the war.

(See War Record)

Returning from the war, they were married, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Passavant, Pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

They purchased a seventy acre farm from his uncle, Jos. Eckman, on which was a four room log house. They added another room to what was to be their home until 1887, when they sold to their son-in-law and bought his father's farm in Parks Twp.

In 1817, they again sold to the son-in-law and moved to Leechburg, Penna., where he repaired shoes and made split baskets.

They were Lutherans and assisted in organizing the St. Paul's Church, where he served as School Superintendent and Church Official for many years. Was a member of The First Lutheran Church, Leechburg, Pa. and the John R. Hunter Post #123, G.A.R., Leechburg, Pa.

WAR RECORD

Enlisted at Camp Orr, Kittanning, Penna. 10/12/1861 in Co. I, 78th Pennsylvania Vol. Inf. and was appointed Corporal. Some time was spent in organization and on 10/12/1864 they moved to Camp Williams, Pittsburgh, Pa.

from here the 78th and 77th and a battery of Light Artillery moved to Louisville, Ky. Here some months were spent in regimental drill and picket duty. They were now in the enemy's country, the Union Army under Gen. Buell and the Confederates under Gen. Bragg. Skirmishes were daily, especially with Gen. Morgan, the Raider.

From here the history of the 78th is but a history of the Civil War. In the battle at Snodgrass Hill, the breaking of the siege on Chattanooga, at Missionary Ridge, (Hookers famous battle above the clouds) and others, the 78th were in their assigned place, rendering valiant service.

During the entire service, Corp. Hawk was at the head of his Squad, except for two months spent in the hospital with sciatica rheumatism. Returned to Pittsburgh and on Oct. 18, 1864 was mustered out of service.

The Becks went to housekeeping on a farm in Burrell Twp., Armstrong Co., Pa. Being a carpenter, Emmett spent most of his time in building houses and barns.

He erected most of the barns in that neighborhood. Having a sawmill they would saw out the boards, seize the timbers, form the mortises and tenons by hand, then gather the men of the vicinity and in a frolicsome manner, would raise the timbers by block and tackle, place the braces and pin together with wooden pins.

With the help of his four boys, they operated their sawmill for many years. They also supplied posts for bracing the roof of many of the coalmines in that vicinity. Thus, his was a lifetime of handling lumber.
